WHEAT CHECKS HAVE NOT ARRIVED HERE

FORCE OF MEN CUT TUESDAY BY INSPECTOR

Claim Randall County Is Exceeding Its Quota

ALL INVESTIGATED

Postponed Work in County Until First of Week

CWA workers in Randall county were reduced to 157 Tuesday night by orders of the district inspector who claimed that the blanket order from Austin last week did not mean that quotas would be abolished and that jobs would be given all of the unemployed. As a result, more than 100 men were laid off, and practically all of the projects in Randall county were postponed for the present.

The local relief committee was informed that every man in Randall county engaged in CWA work must be re-enrolled, and a "case record," or a complete history of the man's financial standing compiled. This will take several days. W. H. Hardin, A. Cayton, Jasper Atkins and Mrs. A. P. Thornton are compiling the information as rapidly as possible with a view of putting all men to work next Tuesday whose case reveals the fact that they are in need of employment.

In putting additional men to work, the local committee relied upon the statement from Austin, "That no quota limit would be imposed in the drouth counties, but that all able-bodied persons, whether on relief or eligible for relief, should be given Civil Works employment. This was a statement given out by Lawrence Westbrook, administrator of relief and director of CWA projects.

All men who have been passed upon by the local committee and given work will be called upon for information, and as many as possible will be put to work next Tuesday.

All public projects will be closed over Christmas in order that the men may spend the day with their families.

Cutting the force yesterday greatly handicapped progress on the highway east of Canyon. Resident Engineer E. H. Gohmert had asked for all men available, but instead of receiving a larger force, his crew was greatly reduced in numbers.

All in the county who are in need of employment will be registered and their records worked up as rapidly as possible in order that projects under construction will not be longer delayed.

Cold Wave Hits Sunday, But No Moisture Comes

Another breath of winter swept over the Panhandle Sunday, resulting in the lowest temperature of the season Monday morning, the mercury standing at 14 degrees above zero.

The mercury rose during Monday, reaching 30 degrees above Tuesday.

The fact that no moisture accompanied the norther Sunday was the most distressing feature so far as the wheat farmers were concerned.

More Magazines Are Needed For Palo Duro Camp

The supply of magazines at the CCC Camps at the Palo Duro State Park is very low, and the men are asking for a new supply.

Citizens who have magazines which they will give to the men are asked to bring them to the News office.

The recreation hall is being equipped with pictures and furniture, gifts of Canyon business houses, and the magazines will add much to the attractiveness of the hall.

Headed For The Last Round Up Of Giving

Building Planned For Palo Duro Park

Guy Carlander of Amarillo has been appointed architect for buildings to be erected at the Palo Duro State Park. His immediate work will be the plans for the lodge and museum which will be erected south of the present CCC camps.

George Nason, state park inspector of Austin, and Herbert Maier, regional engineer for the National Park service, were here Friday making a complete inspection of the Palo Duro State Park, and named Mr. Carlander as architect. Supt. S. O. Miller was given an outline for further work plans which will be started at the Park.

Six miles more of scenic drive will be started at once in the canyon. Other projects call for the erection of several cabins near the lodge, and others seven miles down in the canyon.

The lodge and museum will be housed under one roof, which calls for a change in plans as first proposed.

According to a ruling, no CWA camps will be authorized in state parks. This order will prohibit the establishment of two work camps in the Palo Duro as recently proposed by D. E. Colp, chairman of the State Parks Board. Mr. Colp had also proposed one camp for the Palisades. With this change in orders, and the further fact that it seems unlikely that the road can be built from Amarillo to the Palisades, it is likely that this project will be entirely disbanded in the near future.

Tables, Chairs, Books, Needed in New Reading Room

It is planned to open the new reading room in the court house soon after the first of January, and furniture is needed for the opening. Tables, chairs and additional books will be necessary for the equipment of this room.

The Woman's Book Club is sponsoring the opening of the reading room in the federated club rooms. Application through the CWA for a full time librarian has been filed, and it is expected that the project will be approved from Austin.

It is planned that the opening of this reading room will be the first steps toward the establishment of a public library in Canyon.

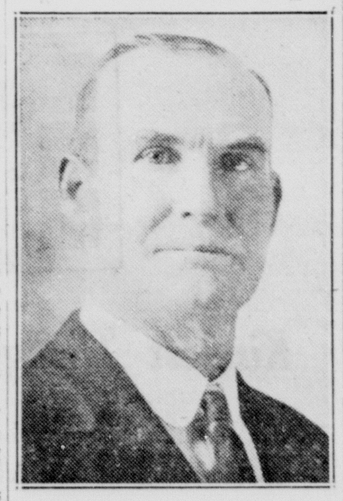

Those who will make donations of furniture may confer with Miss Tennessee Malone, librarian at W. T.

Bids on Bridges to Palo Duro to be Let in January

The State Highway Commission has called for bids on the bridges to be constructed on the highway east of Canyon to the Palo Duro State Park. The specifications are now ready, and bids will be received at the meeting of the commission in January.

There will be two bridges on this road, the larger over the Tierra Blanca, and the other east of the Marshall place.

These bridges will be the only part of the highway to be constructed under contract. All of the draining and caliche work is being done by the highway department with labor furnished from CWA offices of Canyon and Amarillo.

DELAY BEYOND TIME LIMIT IN WHEAT CHECKS

Shipment of Checks Is Expected First of Week

NOTICE TO OWNERS

No Fault on Part of the Local Committee in Delay

Randall County's wheat allotment checks had not been received this morning and no word has been received from Washington as to the time that the checks will be received.

Wheeler county was the first in the Panhandle to receive checks, these coming Friday. Potter county received wheat checks Tuesday.

Randall county's contracts reached Washington about seven days after Potter county's contracts, but owing to the fact that there are about four times as many contracts in Randall as in Potter, it is possible that more than a week will elapse before the Randall checks will be received.

The local allotment committee has asked Washington for information as to when the checks will arrive, but have received no information. It is now practically certain that the checks will not arrive before Christmas, which was set as the goal toward which the committee has been working hard during the past several weeks. It seems that the office at Washington is taking more time than was originally estimated in issuing the checks after the contracts were received and approved.

County Agent W. H. Upchurch has been swamped with requests for information, which he cannot give. He has a sign on his office door stating that the checks have not arrived, but that does not suffice in answering the curiosity of many as to the possibilities of when the cash will be here.

The checks will be issued by W. C. Black, treasurer of the local committee, as soon as they arrive.

Rotary Principles Discussed Tuesday at Weekly Luncheon

The Public Information Committee, Lee Johnson chairman, had charge of the program Tuesday at the Rotary luncheon. Clyde W. Warwick discussed the principles of Rotary, dealing with the ideals, organization and accomplishments of Rotary.

Don Hunsaker and Earl Scruggs of Amarillo; Edward Gerald of Columbia, Mo.; and Edwin Reid were visitors.

Oscar Gano was presented with a past president button by Irby Carruth.

Doug Shirley urged the use of Christmas Seals, which are on sale at most of the business houses, proceeds of which go to fight tuberculosis.

The next meeting of the Club will be on January 2nd when the Rotary Anns will be entertained at a night dinner of the club.

Pi Omega Takes In Ten Members At Initiation

Last night at the home of Marion Hill, ten college girls were initiated into the mysteries of Pi Omega, campus social organization. The ritual was in charge of officers of the society, of which Constance Wayland of Plainview is president. The ceremonies last night followed the informal initiation which was held at the home of Virginia Jarrett on Wednesday night.

Initiates who are now full members are Pauline Shelton, Clarendon; Helen and Josephine Helton, Canadian; Addine Hastings, Hereford; Louise Shirley and Mattie Pearl Whittenburg, Canyon; Mary Gardner, Memphis; Zua Gay Warner, Amarillo; Wilma Jo Jones, Hereford, and Lou Ella McDade, Dumas.

Miss Mattie Swayne, faculty sponsor of Pi Omega was present.

PANHANDLE MEMBER 1933 PRESS ASSOCIATION

The United States government is going into the banking business in a big way. The RFC has bought stock in more than 1500 banks, and before the first of January will probably have acquired stock in a large percent of the national banks. The guaranty system will be effective on that date. All of this works for the benefit of the people. Jesse Jones of Houston, chairman of the RFC says that there will be no more bank failures when the national government takes stock in an institution. It was very unfortunate for the people that Uncle Sam did not have this interest in the banking institutions in 1929 and 1930 when there were so many failures.

While many folks do not have much sympathy with Henry Ford, he made a very accurate statement last week in asserting that "Work is the only cure for our present disease." That is the reason that the President inaugurated the public works program, and insists that men give value received for all the money which is given them by the government. Unfortunately many of the hirelings of the government would use their office to build political machines for themselves, and are attempting to hamper the people in the work program. However, sitting around will never bring back recovery. Work, public and private, is the only course open to prosperity.

Merry Christmas! The News greets you on the occasion by wishing all its readers a most joyous holiday. No matter how hard conditions may be with many of our people, there is always plenty of occasion for believing that things might be worse. Let's forget our troubles just now, and wish for each other that the joys which are usually connected with the Christmas occasion shall not be entirely lacking from this Christmas time. Again we say, Merry Christmas!

Wonder what these nudistites would have done last Thursday had they lived in the Panhandle? Folks here are wondering whether that big blow was a hang over from the one starting last January, or just getting tuned up for another session for 1934.

Faculty Is Busy Visiting Schools

Borger, Amarillo, Pampa, Panhandle and Friona Are On List

Faculty members of W. T. have the past week been observing at first hand the public schools of the region which it serves.

Borger was the destination of two groups: On Monday Miss Ruth Cross, Mrs. Laura Saunders, and Miss Ruth Lowes visited primary grades and physical education classes there. On Wednesday Miss Florence McMurtry, Miss Hattie M. Anderson and Miss Jean Moore spent the day in the intermediate and high school grades there observing the work in several subjects, including history and other social sciences.

To Amarillo

Tuesday, Miss Agnes Charlton, of the foreign language department, visited three Spanish classes and one Latin class in the Amarillo High School. While there she attended general assembly and heard Judge S. A. L. Morgan address the high school students.

On Wednesday Miss Margaret Wiley, of the English department, went to Pampa where she visited several English classes, including one taught by Ben Guill, W. T. exe. Miss Wiley was accompanied by Miss Edna Graham, of the mathematics department, who visited math classes in the Pampa high school. Both instructors were guests for luncheon in the home of T. H. McDonald, president of W. T.'s Ex-Students Association.

Mrs. Geraldine Green, dean of women, and Miss Hellen Hickman, college nurse, spent Thursday in Perryton visiting classes.

Lee Johnson spent yesterday in Friona where he visited classes in mathematics and commerce. Professor L. S. Baker recently visited science and other classes in the Panhandle school.

"I don't like this town." It is only occasionally that we hear such a remark, but when we do, we wonder how much the people of the town like the person who who makes it. Most of us like each other. We enjoy our daily interchanges of views. But we feel sorry for the poor fellow who is "out of tune." He reminds us of a noise is not music to our ears.

In giving his impression of the color of the sky, obtained during his recent flight to the stratosphere, Major Fordney said: "The sky is blue. It is a very deep blue, not purple nor anything else, but definitely blue, blue, blue." What he was trying to convey, undoubtedly, was that the sky had a distinct indigo hue.

An officer on an ocea liner is reported grieved because no one believed he saw a red-and-green-eyed sea serpant with camel humps and a face like a cow. You really can't blame the doubting Thomases, what with prohibition repeal and all that.

There are two sides to every family question—the male and the female.

Tell a man he looks distinguished and you can always get him to go on your note.

FDR Confers During Drive—Toward Recovery

Breaks With Farm Union

Here is A. W. Ricker of St. Paul, Minn., who was ejected from the National Farmers' Union convention in Omaha, Neb., after a dispute, and then organized a rump convention of his sympathizers. Ricker is the editor of a farm publication.

The man who feels bad when he is alone never thinks to blame it on the company.

About the only dictating a man can get away with now is what he pays his stenographer to take.

So live that you can get sick and be delirous without later worrying over what you said.

Things for which we should be most thankful are often the ones we most frequently forget.

There is some complaint of men growing more effeminate. However, after seeing a good football game, you'll feel differently about it.

Some people hate to have company. Others like to because company means a temporary truce in the family row.

An optimist is one who makes the best of it when he gets the worst of it.

Don't worry. It distresses other people and doesn't do you any good.

Those who take pains with their work will not get any pains out of it.

If you can't be an optimist, at least do not be a pessimist. Stick in between.

Many a fellow roars loudly for justice and then howls mightily when he gets it.

It is claimed that there has been a marked decline in the writing of love letters. Folks are growing more cautious.

The principal reason why some men never live up to their ideals is the fact that they have none.

Bachelors are the ones who can tell you all about the faults of women. Married men haven't the nerve to speak.

Grange Head Rides in Style

When citizens of Boise, Idaho, turned out to greet Louis J. Taber of Ohio, National Grange chief, they beheld Taber riding into the city in typical old-time western style. A stage coach was used to convey Taber to the hall where the National Grange convention took place. He was re-elected national master of the organization.

BASKETEERS BEGIN PRACTICE UNDER COACH CARL YORK

Four Lettermen Probably Form Nucleus Of 1934 Squad

(By Gerry Brown)

Basketball practice at West Texas State Teachers College began Wednesday afternoon with 25 men reporting to Coach Carl York. York was assistant football coach, and was appointed varsity basketball coach to relieve Coach Baggett of some of his heavy duties. York played four years at Denton for the North Texas State Teachers College, but is probably better known here for his playing on several all-star teams.

Four Lettermen

Four lettermen from last year's teams are back this year, but of these four only two were rated as regulars last year. These two are Russell Stroud and Guy Richards. Stroud, a forward is the tallest man on the team, boasting of 6 feet 4½ inches, and is playing his third year as a regular. Richards plays either forward or guard. John Walker and Cow Williams are the other two letter men. Big Foot Walker is 6 feet 3 inches and has arms about a mile long. He was substitute center last year, seeing lots of service and will probably make the regular center this year. Last year was Cow's first year of basketball, but he showed more development than any other man on the team and will make a strong bid for a starting position.

Freshmen Prospects

There are several men from last year's freshman team who are good prospects. Edd McMinn of Kirkland, Texas, was called by Coach Burton the best freshman prospect since Colvin came. McMinn is 6 feet 2 inches tall. Other sophomores who have been showing up as possible first stringers are Estral McElroy of Ralls, Willie Boedeker of Lockney, Ted Phillips of Big Spring, Charles Taylor of Childress, and Curtis Clement of Wellington.

This year's Buffalo squad will not tower quite so high as last year's team, but is as tall as the average team anywhere. Absent from the team this year are Fortenberry, Comer, Colvin, Monroe, Morris, Burk, and Fitzgerald. These men will naturally be hard to replace but practice sessions have already shown that the team will compare favorably with any buff team of former years, and the outlook is bright for an unusually promising season.

METHODIST CHURCH

The Methodist Church will have all regular services Sunday both morning and evening.

The Pastor's subject Sunday morning will be, "The Light that Plays upon the Soul." Sunday Evening, "A Season's Sentiment or a Life's Ideal." Music is being provided by the Choirs.

The heating problem has been solved, so you will find a warm church, in case the weather is bad.

Some men do not realize the danger in letter writing, particularly to a woman, until they have done it.

As Touhy Gang Went to Trial

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

Christmas services next Sunday.

Church school at 9:45.

Morning worship at 11, theme, "Christmas Gift."

There will be a Carol Service at 6:30, led by the Girls' Glee Club of the high school. Attend this Christmas Eve service.

At 7:15 a program will be presented by the Primary and Junior departments, which will be followed by a Christmas Tree for these departments.

A MERRY CHRISTMAS TO ALL

Wayside Items

Winter has come, ice in plenty, but no moisture. Some one has predicted we'd have none at Christmas time. Doubtful if they know about it.

Dust storms have been bad, many wheat fields are blowing out, in places wheat is almost blown out.

Some farmers are resowing part of land sowed to wheat. South and west of Wayside cattle are grazing the new wheat.

Box and pie supper at Wayside Friday night was a success. Almost $45.00 was collected. Funds go for treats for Christmas tree next Saturday night. Rev. and Mrs. N. S. Daniels and sons with Miss May from Vigo Park were in attendance. The auditorium was pretty well filled. D. L. Adams was auctioneer. A jolly time with all.

W. R. Franklin and family were dinner guests with Roy Franklin and wife Sunday. After dinner both families visited the Sluder home.

Kenneth Knox, wife and John Harvey spent last week end in the paternal W. H. Rogers home at Panhandle.

Miss Lemley, primary teacher here spent the week end at Tulia with friends.

Mrs. Nellie Burrows and little daughters, with her sister, Miss Viola Hamblen of Los Angeles, California, planned to leave California for Wayside Dec. 17th. We wish them a safe journey.

On Dec. 8th a most interesting play was put on the stage here by the young people and teachers. "A Fortunate Calamity," was enjoyed by a full house and pronounced very fine. Unintentionally omitted at proper time.

A goodly number of the McGehee tribe at Wayside motored to Canyon Saturday to celebrate Miss S. L. McGehee's birthday. W. D., John T., and M. CHRISTMAS would be just like any other day in the year if it were not for kind thoughts and deeds—for cheery words spoken and efforts put forth to make others happy. This good season, when gifts are given—when happy thoughts enter our minds, when we are filled with a spirit of gladness and a desire to give all these elements of the Yuletide heightened charm.

LIKEWISE our business would be just like any other business were it not for the hundred and one things, small and large, which help to make our business a pleasure to us and, we trust a source of satisfaction to our patrons. Aside from the business we have transacted during the year now drawing to a close, we list among the achievements accomplished the forming of new friendships and the strengthening of the ties which held our old "stand-bys." We find pleasure in going to particular pains to supply our patrons with courteous and efficient service in order that we may give complete satisfaction.

We wish you all the joy of the Christmas season.

Light Plant Will Be Installed At Palo Duro Camps

A light plant has been shipped to the Palo Duro State Park and will furnish current for lighting the 45 buildings at the CCC camps and furnishing the necessary power for the four companies.

The plant is expected any day, and will be installed immediately upon arrival. A building for the plant was started yesterday by E. W. Cabe and a few carpenters who have been retained for this construction work. Practically all of the other construction work at the camp has been completed, or at least will be completed before the end of this week.

The capacity of the plant is not yet known, but it will be sufficient to completely light the camps, according to information received by Major James A. Watson, commanding officer of the camp.

About half of the CCC men are away on the Christmas holiday leave, and the others will be allowed to leave for the New Year if they choose to visit their homes. Most of the men are traveling by trucks on their vacation trips.

Much of the lumber at the Palisades is being utilized at the Palo Duro for the construction of garages and other repairs. The mess hall is about the only building remaining of the improvements erected at the Palisades.

Wranglers Work Recognized By National Heads

The National Field Division of the Girl Scouts has recently expressed high commendation of the work which is being done in Canyon by the Wranglers, college girls organization in which young women prepare themselves to direct scouting and other out of door activities of school girls.

Miss Idabelle Stevenson, assistant secretary, recently wrote from the National Girl Scouts headquarters in New York, thanking the local organization for a report of its work. She said, "The report is very interesting and we feel much gratified to think that you have organized along the patrol system used by the Girl Scouts. I hope that as the work develops, and you undertake different projects, you will let us hear about them."

From Mrs. J. K. Beretta of San Antonio, a member of the State Board of Teachers College Regents, has also come a letter congratulating the Wranglers on their work, and expressing a hope that she can visit a meeting of the group when she comes to Canyon.

Miss Thelma Brummett, secretary to President J. A. Hill of W. T., is responsible for the existence of the Wranglers and has been one of its active sponsors since its beginning. She has had scouting experience as counselor in some of the best known camps of the east. Others who have served on the Troop Committee are Professor S. H. Condron, Registrar D. A. Shirley, Professor L. S. Baker of the College faculty, and Mrs. Tom Knighton and Mrs. W. L. Smith, both of Canyon. Miss Mary L. White, Regional Director of Girl Scouts, and director of Camp Mary White, Cloudcroft, New Mexico, has visited the Wranglers and has given them valuable help. Although the organization is young, many of its members are already directing girls' out of door groups in connection with their work as teachers.

New Trend in Vehicle Design Points to "Streamlined" World in 1950

Besides being streamlined, the new British Crossley car, shown at top, has other unusual features. In it, the engine is at the rear, and the spare wheels are carried in the door. The companion pictures, above, showing a head-on view of the old style locomotive, and one of the new high speed Union Pacific passenger trains, graphically illustrate the "drag"-eliminating merits of the new train. This new Union Pacific train, viewed from above, resembles a giant raindrop, as shown at right.

A "STREAMLINED" world, with every vehicle of transportation shaped somewhat like half of a gigantic pear sliced lengthwise—that's the prospect for the year 1950, if we are to judge by recent developments in the field of industrial design.

Airplanes for years have been built to offer the least possible wind resistance; automobiles with sloping lines are common sights nowadays; and even trains are swinging into line. The new 100-odd-miles-an-hour trains which the Union Pacific and the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroads plan to run on their lines look from above like giant raindrops.

Streamlining is not a new feature adopted simply to bring about novelty of appearance. It has come to be recognized as a fundamental necessity in industrial design. The following facts explain why.

One horse, let us say, can pull a canal boat at two miles an hour. It takes eight horsepower, though, to pull the same boat at twice this speed, or four miles an hour. The frictional resistance of water, or "drag," is responsible. When the speed is doubled, this "drag" is multiplied four times, and the power must be increased eight times, mathematics teaches us. Thus, if the speed of the boat is to be increased to 20 miles an hour, 1000 horsepower is needed.

* * *

LIKE water, air resists motion of an object, though not, of course, with as much force. At 30 miles an hour, there is little "air drag," but air resistance, just like that of water, increases with the speed of the object. Thus, a train which needs 50 horsepower to travel 30 miles an hour must have 1350 horsepower to run at a 90-mile-an-hour speed.

From this illustration, it is easy to understand the importance of streamlining as a means of minimizing "drag." Airplane designers were the first to see the handwriting on the wall, and to develop streamlining.

Within the last two years, automobile and railroad men at last have come to the realization that air resistance is something to be eliminated, not overcome; that it was not wisdom to increase the speed of their products by adding power alone.

Giant tunnels, in which great fans blast wind about miniature models of autos, planes, and trains and other devices, are being worked overtime by manufacturers seeking the path of least resistance from the elements. They foresee that in the very near future the most spectacular fight for supremacy yet staged by American industry may take place in the field of transportation.

And the speed and economy of operation made possible by streamlining will prove important factors in this battle.

Sandie Cagers Defeat Eagles Score 30 to 19

By a score of 30 to 19 the Canyon High quintet went down in defeat before the Amarillo Sandies here last Friday night.

The Eagles were outplayed in the first quarter, but managed to bring the score to an 11 to 11 tie by the end of the second quarter.

Demonstrator Demonstrates To Home Ec. Classes

Girls of Miss Fannie Sue Brasuel's foods classes were very interested this week in the demonstrations of Miss Mary Louise Miltenberger, who is advertising for the Wesson oil people in New Orleans, Louisiana.

Miss Miltenberger was showing the use of a new mayonnaise mixer being sold now by the company. The receipe for mayonnaise is on the outside of the glass mixer so it will never be lost or misplaced. She made for the classes a pint of mayonnaise and a cup of dressing for bland vegetables and meats and gave samples of each to members of the classes. Then she presented to the department a mixer and five pints of Wesson Oil.

Faculty Facts

The Junior class has for its sponsor this year, Miss Grace M. Clark. Miss Clark is also the head of the mathematics department of Canyon High School. She teaches two classes of Second Year algebra, two classes of geometry, and one class of business arithmetic. Miss Clark was born in Northville, South Dakota, but moved to Dodge County, Minnesota, while still young. She came to Texas fifteen years ago. Miss Clark has two brothers and a sister older than she and one younger sister.

Her father always trusted his fine horses with Miss Clark before he would trust them with either of the boys.

"I began my education in the country school of Dodge County, Minnesota, where I finished the first seven grades," said the head of the mathematics department. After Miss Clark finished grammar school, the family moved to town, meaning Owatonna, Minn. Miss Clark finished her high school education at the Owatonna High School. She received her B. S. degree from W. T., and her M. A. degree from George Peabody. It seems as if Miss Clark likes the Panhandle of Texas, having taught in Lockney, Hale Center and Amarillo before coming here seven years ago to take up the task of teaching mathematics to the students of this school.

Miss Clark is a member of the Lloyd Green Allen Scholarship Society, Delta Kappa Gamma, and is secretary of the Pi Chapter which meets in Amarillo. She has held no position other than teaching.

Miss Clark said, "I have no favorite movie star, but I never miss hearing Martini, the Italian opera star, who sings over the radio three times a week. I also enjoy hearing any good orchestra. My greatest ambition "now," is to own a good horse for that is the only animal I like at all, and I love a good horse."

Miss Clark has crossed the United States four times and has been to Tennessee three times. She plays the piano and also sings.

Haratium:

The days of December 22-31 inclusive, have been proclaimed by the Board of Education as holidays for the pupils of Canyon Public Schools. May every happiness and blessing that the Christmas time brings to mankind be yours. Let us remember that the Yuletide is a time to share with others. We should make a special effort to see that every boy and girl in the Canyon Public Schools has some part in our Christmas joys. This can be done by giving a part of what we have and what we receive.

Canyon Hi Band Has Shown Up Well This Year

The band of the Canyon High School, although handicapped by lack of uniforms, and of a large number of interested members, has made a good showing for the institution this year. The thirteen players are as follows: Saxophone: Jack Oldham, Loretta Cole; Cornet: Robert Orton, Jack Pitts, Mabel Schmitz, and Florence Root; Clarinet: Lorenzo Wirt, J. C. Bellah, Glen Vetesk; Baritone: Mary Strain; Sousaphone: Edd Brooks; Bass Drum: Raymond Bible, and Snare Drum, Ernest Duncan.

The band, by the way, is planning at present to play in a special entertainment at the Baptist church, the last of January.

So That You May Know

This is the fourth of a series of articles by the principals of the Public Schools.—Ed.

All the rooms of the grade school took on a festive air last week and donned their trimmings of red and green in anticipation of the Christmas season.

There are many aspects of holiday life for children that give educational value. They can be made to mean a time of reflection of sustained and refined emotions, a ready use of the gracious acts of life, as well as a time of leisure. Holidays unite children with their parents in a common effort, as materials used are the same at home, on the street, and in the school.

Again, holidays furnish a real gateway to history as the significance of all the agreeable and beautiful things that are done in celebration must be understood by children to make them enjoyable.

All holidays are celebrated in the elementary school but unusual significance is given the Christmas holiday. Lesson plans take cognizance of the wealth of material available and are so correlated that the best in song, story, poetry and drama may be brought to the children. Christmas customs of other countries are studied and special emphasis placed upon the Nativity story.

An elaborate program has not been planned for this year, but each room will have its own tree and at 8:45 o'clock on Friday morning, Dec. 22, all home rooms will unite in a program in the gymnasium to which all parents and friends are invited.

Canyon Debaters Defeat Olton Seven Debates

"If anyone has an extra quilt we could borrow, we'd better stop and get it, cause I've been on trips before and I know how cold it'll be coming back," so stated Mr. George Terry as he fell into the driver's seat of the school bus. The quilts were stacked in a corner; the debaters were seated, and the debate material was put up for safe keeping. The debaters were off to Olton at last.

After a few miles of bumpy, dirty roads, accompanied by shrieks of laughter and bounteous yells, what could have been more exciting than seeing a cloud of smoke escaping from the radiator. "It's on fire," shouted one frightened voice; and before long two voices, belonging to Armor Lee, affirmative, and Irene, negative, were debating on "Resolved, We're having car trouble." Skeeter Wirt, Dan Gerald and Chris Wooten were the mechanics of the afternoon. After about thirty minutes of hard labor, the bus was again on its way. "What's happened to Laura Ferne," asked one interested young man, but he didn't have to ask twice, for Laura Ferne was discovered telling Avent he was too young to talk of love.

After a few miles ol slow driving the group arrived at a filling station just in time to hear a casing empty itself of all the air. Every one piled out for water, but water wasn't all. Soda pop, candy, and nuts were main features of the visit.

The casing was changed, and again the bus of enthusiastic debaters was on its way. Nut shells were flying with the dust. Everyone was dodging and shouting, "don't hit me." After things were littered in proper fashion, Mr. Terry said, "That's enough of the nut fight," and it was.

One would have thought the group was a truck of negroes. When they reached Olton, dirt was caked on their clothes as well as on their faces and in their eyes.

They arrived in Olton, late as usual. After they had cleaned up, they started their first round of debates.

After these, the debaters, judges, and sponsors went to supper, prepared by the Olton debaters. What a feed! Sandwiches, salad, scalloped potatoes, and cocoa, served in royal manner! Mr. A. E. Terry was master of ceremonies, E. J. Moore, principal of Olton High School, welcomed the Canyon group. Mr. George Terry received the welcome.

If you want to be treated like you were "somebody come" go to Olton.

After supper, games were played before the group started on the second round of debates. Canyon won ten debates and lost three. Rosa Cash and Armor Lee Greenfield won two, Mary May Harrison and Irene Thompson lost one; Bobbye Jo Cheyne and Dora May Plaster won two; Mary Ella Lowe and Laura Ferne Brian won two; Bob Orton and Jack Oldham won two; Jack Pitts and Chris Wooten lost one; Dan Gerald and Alton Brasuel won two; Hal Gamble and Avent Lair lost one.

The Canyon debators left Olton about ten o'clock, after getting a garageman out of bed to make the motor of the bus charge.

Singing of all kinds was what kept everyone awake until the wee hours of morning.

When the group was about sixteen miles from home, as luck would have it, the bus had a blow out.

Jack Oldham came along in his car, and everyone that could get into his car, came to town. They carried the casing and inner tube to canyon and had it mended. This group of debators arrived home about 2:30, but Mr. Terry, Bob Orton, Rosa Cash, Jack Pitts, Hal Gamble, Chris Wooten, Alton Brasuel and Dora May Plaster sat patiently wating the return of Hampton Lisle and Dan Gerald. At last they returned. They changed the casing and made the last sixteen miles without any more car trouble, arriving home at 3:45 a. m., after a successful debate trip.

The W. T. Calves were defeated Tuesday night, Dec. 12, by the Canyon High Cchool Eagles. The score was 17-21.

Being the first practice game of the season, there was much enthusiasm aroused among the Canyon fans.

From start to finish the game furnished many thrilling and exciting moments. Being early in the season the Eagles were handicapped by unnecessary roughness.

Carol Singing at the Presbyterian Church Sunday

The Presbyterian Church is holding at 6:30 Sunday evening, Dec. 24, carol singing. This entertainment will last about thirty minutes, and is held especially for the school children, although all children are requested to bring their parents and friends. It is believed all will enjoy this short entertainment Christmas Eve.

Rev. Dickey at Chapel Period

Rev. Dickey of the Presbyterian church spoke for several minutes to the students of Canyon High School in assembly. He stressed three points: choosing a vocation; choosing a life's companion, and choosing life's philosophy. The students sang a number of songs the remaining part of the assembly period concluding with the school song.

Extemporaneous Speech Starts In High School

A short meeting of the Extemporaneous Speech Club was held Thursday afternoon, Dec. 14. The main object of this meeting was to see who intended to make up the club this year. Miss Etheleen Murrell, sponsor of the club has several students in mind that will be interested in this type of speech work.

The club decided upon a method of keeping all news articles on any of the subjects. Two of the main topics have already been published. "The New Deal" and the "Disarmament Conference."

For the annual tournament and regional meet that will be held in Amarillo, these topics will each be broken up into a number of small topics.

The club plans to work hard and to make as much progress as possible.

MEANING OF CHRISTMAS

What does Christmas mean to the Canyon High School students? Does it mean a joyful group of restful holidays, or is it a time when each pupil can show his or her appreciation of some friend or loved one, or help the needy and bring joy to them?

Each student of Canyon High School should attempt to bring Christmas cheer to some child or old person that will not otherwise have a bountiful Christmas.

"Not what we give but what we share
For the gift without the giver is bare.
He who gives of his alms feeds three.
Himself, his hungering neighbors and Me."

Such is the way Lowell expresses the spirit of giving.

Let every student, therefore, while he is decorating his own home with mistletoe and holly wreaths to add to his Christmas spirit, think also of others, for only in this way can he really have a true Christmas spirit.

Buffalo Troup Has Party At Ingham Home

The Buffalo Troop of Girl Scouts sponsored by Lois McCaslin and Louise Jacobson and the Thistle Troop, sponsored by Osce McCrerey and Lois Goodrich, had a party at the home of Dr. and Mrs. S. L. Ingham, Saturday night, Dec. 16.

Games were played, and Christmas carols and Girl Scout songs were sung. Each girl brought a gift. The gifts were exchanged by the drawing of numbers. After the gifts had been enjoyed by the girls, they were collected to be given to the community chest with the toys that the Girl Scouts have mended for that purpose. Refreshments of popcorn balls and candy were served.

Margaret Nicholas, Jewel Chambers, Muriel Pirkle and Winnie Dee Hicks spent Saturday in Amarillo.

Buying Power of Hogs

BASED on the fair exchange relationship with prices of things farmers buy, hogs during the past decade have had materially less purchasing power than they had in the pre-war period. In 1933, it took about eight hogs to buy what three hogs would buy in the 1910-14 period as indicated above. In all the years since 1920-21 (excepting in 1925-26 when there was a temporary reduction in hog supply) the purchasing power of hogs has been on a general downward trend.

In 1932, the fair exchange value of hogs was $7.75 per hundredweight. The prices of things farmers buy averaged slightly above their pre-war level. But the actual farm price of hogs in 1932 was only $3.47 per hundredweight, or $4.28 below fair exchange value.

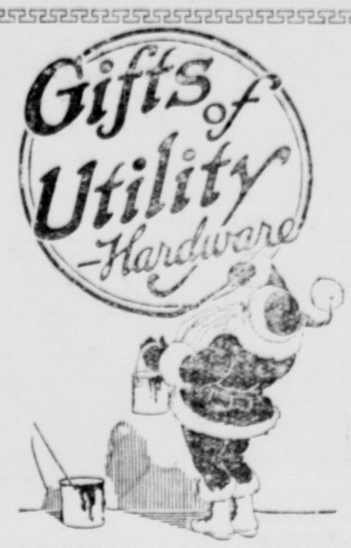

Fair exchange value means the pre-war price for hogs only when the price of things farmers buy is at the pre-war level. If the prices of things farmers buy become double their pre-war level, then the fair exchange value will be double the pre-war price of hogs.

The corn-hog production adjustment program under the Agricultural Adjustment Act seeks to raise hog prices to the current fair exchange value. This may be done by bringing production into better balance with the most profitable demand through a reduction in 1934 of 25 percent in hog production and 20 percent in corn acreage.

UNITED STATES EXPORTS OF HOG PRODUCTS

(Each hog represents 1,000,000 head.)

THE accompanying graph constitutes a vivid explanation of one reason why the prices for corn and hogs have been so low the last few years. The main reason is the severe decline in the export demand for United States hog products since the 1919 peak.

In 1910-14, European nations took the equivalent of nearly six million hogs. This was only a moderate export level, but the total United States hog production at that time was in good balance with the combined domestic and foreign demand.

Under the stimulus of the World War, foreign purchases of our hog products jumped to the equivalent of about seventeen million hogs. But since the war, our exports have dropped back again to the equivalent of about four million hogs. This decline has been due to a rapid restoration of hog production in European countries since the war, particularly in Germany and Denmark, and more recently because of tariffs and of quotas which limit the quantity of imports.

Meanwhile, hog production in the United States has continued to increase at about the same rate as the population. Consequently, the products no longer shipped abroad have become excess products on the home market and have driven down hog prices. Some adjustment to this changed demand must be made if hog prices are to be raised to a more favorable level. The corn-hog production-control program, now being offered by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, will help farmers bring about this necessary better balance.

Nation Awaits Congress' Action on FDR's Much-Debated Money Policy

WILL Congress get behind the president in carrying out his monetary program? Or will that august body arise and balk the chief executive's plans with respect to the dollar?

The answer, of intense interest to the American public, will be forthcoming when Congress swings into action in January

Opposition to the government's new money policy has smouldered for some time. Recently it burst into flame, fanned by the disapproval of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, Alfred E. Smith, and others.

To understand the background of this controversy, it is necessary to present President Roosevelt's aims and the way he plans to fulfill them

The purposes of his dollar-managing plan, as outlined in recent speeches by the president, is to aid the farmer and the business man by raising commodity prices to the level of 1926, giving work to the jobless, and making it possible for the nation's debtors to rid themselves of their burdens at or near the price level at which they were incurred.

To accomplish these ends by the plan adopted by the government involves four steps:

(1) The gold value of the dollar is depreciated gradually to a point necessary to bring about a rise in prices. This is done by setting arbitrary prices for newly-mined gold above the $20.67 an ounce price set by law. The theory behind this is that if an ounce of gold costs more, more dollars will be required to buy it. The dollars thus will be cheaper, and the purchase of commodities will of necessity require more of these dollars.

(2) When the dollar has been cheapened to the necessary point, the government keeps its lessened value more or less constant by making it redeemable in gold at that figure instead of the $20.67 figure set by law. In other words, the gold standard will be restored, but on a lower level.

(3) There would ensue a period of waiting. It might be weeks, months, or years, but supporters of the dollar-management plan believe that commodity prices eventually must rise to a point sufficient to offset a depreciated dollar.

(4) Once this level was reached, commodity prices would be stabilized by changing slightly from time to time the gold content of the dollar.

* * *

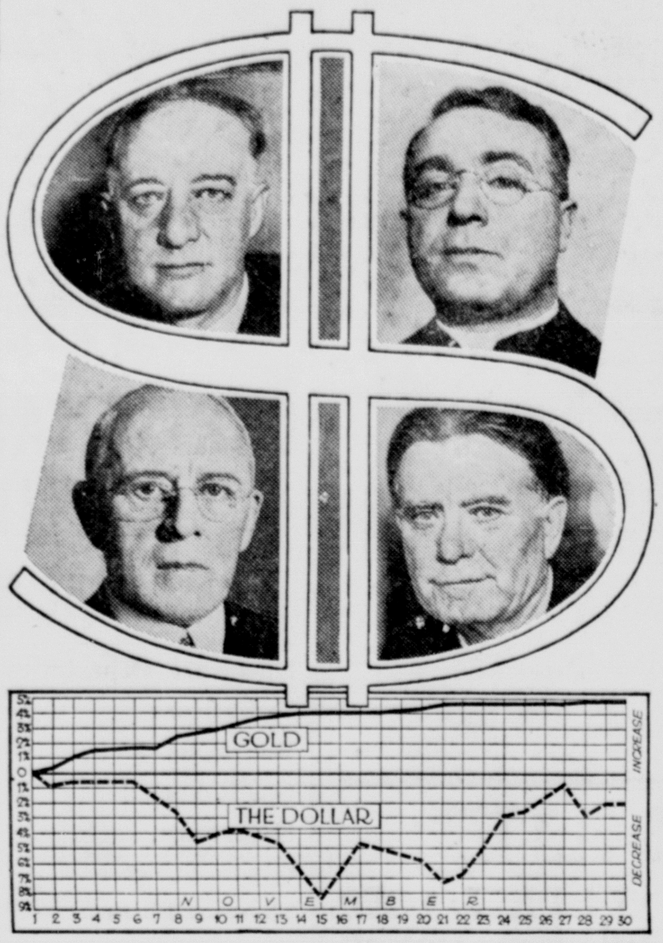

CRITICS of the plan do not believe that manipulation of the dollar can affect commodity prices to an appreciable extent. They point out that the total stock of gold in the United States is worth only about $4,000,000,000 at parity, while bank deposits, which finance the great bulk of commercial transactions, amount to 10 times that figure.

They believe that a large number of factors besides gold—the law of supply and demand, for one—influence prices.

They believe that the uncertainty of value of the dollar is shaking public confidence, and retarding recovery.

They believe that uncontrolled inflation, such as occurred with disastrous results in Germany after the war, may result.

And, lastly, these opponents of the Roosevelt program believe that the methods employed may bring on an international "currency war," in which various countries of the world would compete in currency deflation, to the detriment of all nations involved.

Prominent critics and defenders of President Roosevelt's money policy are shown above. Alfred E. Smith, top left, former governor of New York and Democratic presidential candidate, has pleaded for a return to the gold standard. So has the United States Chamber of Commerce, of which Henry I. Harriman, bottom left, is president. On the other hand, Father Charles E. Coughlin, top right, militant Detroit priest, and Senator William E. Borah of Idaho, bottom right, defend the president's course. Below is a chart showing how the dollar has been affected in one month of the gold-purchase program.

Coronation of Queen Is Brilliant Affair

Reception and Ball Are Culmination Of Formal

In one of the most gorgeous pageants of the winter season, Miss Josephine Flaniken, of Vernon, was proclaimed Moon Queen of West Texas State Teachers College at the College Auditorium, Saturday evening, December 16th.

The program began with Prince J. C. Line musing about a dream he had, in which the lovely Moon Queen captured his heart. His butler, Stanley Williams, announced guests, and the Prince rose to receive them. They were: Lady Dorothy Clark and Sir George Bishop, Lady Frances Alice Clark and Sir William Nelson, Lady Lucy Jo Loudder and Sir Don Fish, Lady Helen Lill and Sir Layle Gilkerson, and Lady Pauline Presley and Sir Kenneth Kendrick.

Court Dancer Performs

For his guests' amusement Prince J. C. called on his Court Dancer, Miss Hylagene Robertson, instructor in dancing at the Amarillo Academy of Music and Arts. Miss Robertson, dressed in a billowing blue dress, did a graceful toe-dance. After this number, the court musician, Mr. Herschel Coffee, instructor in violin at W. T., played "The Rosary."

As the butler served wine, the Prince told his guests of his dream, announcing that when the moon came up he intended to go in search of his Moon Queen. Soon the curtains were drawn, and a gorgeous crescent moon could be seen shining in the sky. In a moment of darkness, the Prince's drawing room, his guests, and everything but the Prince himself, vanished, and as the lights became brighter he could be seen at the foot of a flight of stairs that led straight up through the black sky to the moon. He sang a song to his Moon Queen, and a voice from the sky announced her court.

From a silver door under the stairs came first, Duchess Margaret Harvey, in deep pink, and her escort, Lord Charles Taylor. After they had climbed to a position almost to the moon, Dutchess Sue Brown, in yellow, and her escort, Lord Ezell Champion, were announced. Next came Duchess Nina Mae Drew, in white and scarlet, and her escort, Lord C. W. Cotton. Last, Duchess Adella Beavers, in shell pink, and her escort, Lord Miles McGehee, were announced.

Queen Appears

As the silver door opened again, Prince J. C. beheld his long awaited Moon Queen, Josephine of the royal house of Flaniken. She wore a white satin gown, with a train carried by two small trainbearers. Her crown glittered on her blond head as Prince J. C. escorted her to her throne on the moon. After receiving her scepter, she graciously invited her court and guests to a reception in her honor at Cousins Hall.

Reception at Cousins

The reception room at Cousins Hall was beautifully decorated in pastel colors. Queen Josephine and her court composed the receiving line. After the arrival of her guests, the Queen led in an evening of dancing. Music was furnished by Royce Park at the piano.

Pi Omega sponsored the entire entertainment, and the coronation was directed by Miss Helen Hickman.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at drug stores. © 1931 C. M. Co.

W. T. Holidays To Open Friday—Opening January 2

The annual Christmas pilgrimage to mother and dad and home will begin in Canyon on Friday when classes are ended at the college. Students will be leaving for points all over west Texas, for places as far away as the gulf and for homes in adjacent states. During the ten day vacation books and dignity will be forgotten and boys and girls will enjoy a long frolic before their return for work on January 2.

Most members of the faculty who have homes in Canyon will spend the holiday season here, although a large number will be out of town for a day or more of the brief recess.

Miss Marion Normington will go to Michigan to visit her family. Miss Margaret Wiley and Miss M. Moss Richardson will go to Denton and Detroit, Texas. Mrs. Laura Saunders will visit her sister in Smithville, and Miss Jennie C. Ritchie will spend the time with her brother, Judge E. B. Ritchie and his family at Mineral Wells.

Miss Orpa Dennis, a new member of the home economics department will spend Christmas with her parents at Whitewright, and Miss Isabell Robinson will go to her home near Kirksville, Missouri. Dr. A. M. Meyer, another recent addition to the faculty, will go to Nashville, Tennessee, and Mrs. Meyer will return to Canyon with him at the close of the holiday.

Miss Edna Graham and her nieces, Nancy, Edna, and Mary Graham will drive to McGregor leaving Canyon on Friday.

While the owners are absent, Miss Florence McMurtry will be at home to her friends in Miss Richardson's house, and Mrs. Carolyn Wallingford and her sister at Miss Ritchie's.

Miss Thelma Brummett, secretary to President Hill, and Miss Ruby Kendrick Cherry, secretary to the Deans of Men and Women, will go to Kirkland and Childress to visit their families.

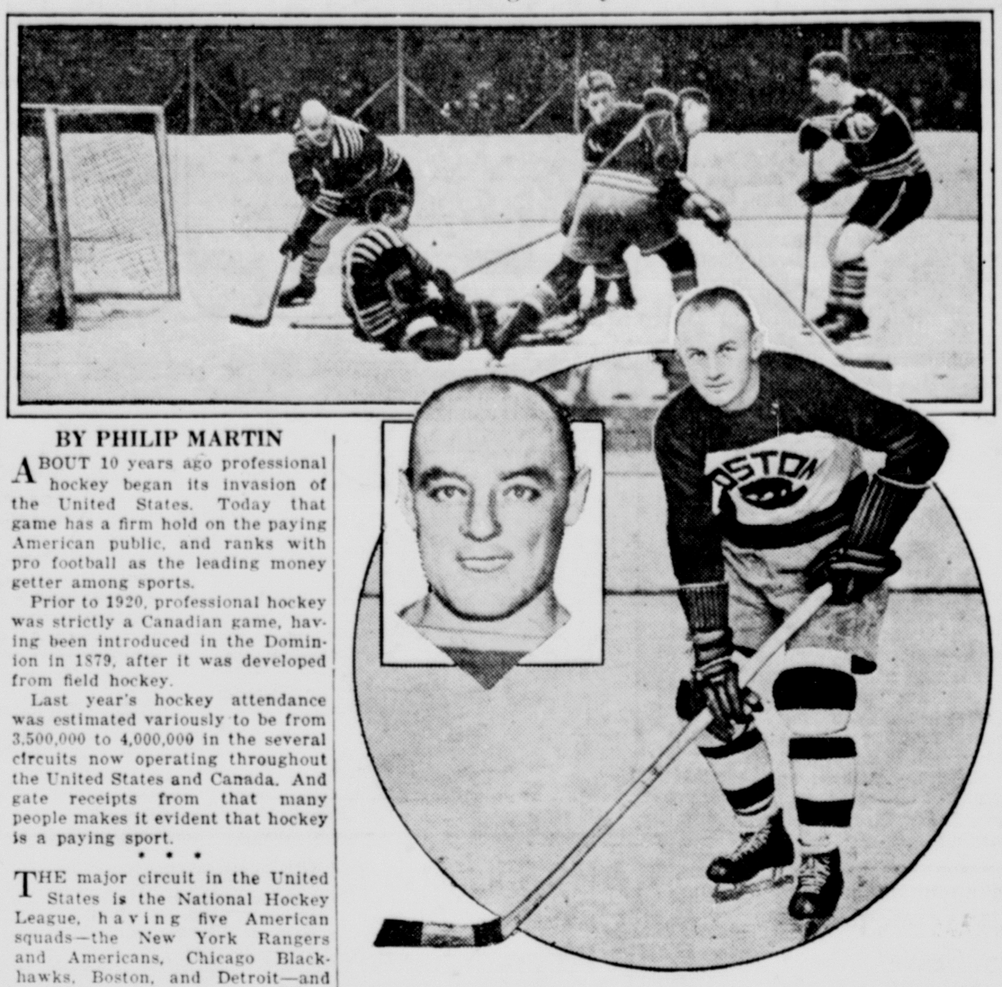

Miss Ima Barlow and her mother and Miss Jennie Mae Elliott will remain in Canyon. Miss Anna I. Hibbetts will go to Washburn. Miss Hattie M. Anderson wil lbe the guest of friends in Amarillo.

Several members of the faculty have not yet made their plans which are dependent upon the weather.

Roscoe Bradford of Spearman was here Monday on businness.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS

After Decade in United States, Professional Hockey Has Come to Rank With Pro Football as Big Money Maker

BY PHILIP MARTIN

ABOUT 10 years ago professional hockey began its invasion of the United States. Today that game has a firm hold on the paying American public, and ranks with pro football as the leading money getter among sports.

Prior to 1920, professional hockey was strictly a Canadian game, having been introduced in the Dominion in 1879, after it was developed from field hockey.

Last year's hockey attendance was estimated variously to be from 3,500,000 to 4,000,000 in the several circuits now operating throughout the United States and Canada. And gate receipts from that many people makes it evident that hockey is a paying sport.

* * *

THE major circuit in the United States is the National Hockey League, having five American squads—the New York Rangers and Americans, Chicago Blackhawks, Boston, and Detroit—and four Canadian teams.

This loop is a big business, featuring stars from all parts of the country, and staging its annual "world series" in a playoff for the Stanley Cup between champions of the American and Canadian divisions.

In addition to this league there are the International League, in the region of the Great Lakes, a Pacific Coast circuit, California league, Canadian league, and minor circuits in Texas, Oklahoma, Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, and other states.

* * *

THIS season efforts are being centered on making the race in the National loop closer than ever, to make the games more exciting. New blood has been brought in from minor loops in the United States and Canada in an effort to strengthen the weaker teams for their drive to oust the New York Rangers as champions.

But the game still carries the glamour of the old days in the play of some of the veterans, who, though cut and bruised time and again by flashing blades and flying hockey sticks, retain all their old form on the ice.

Foremost among these veterans are Howie Morenz, Lionel Conacher, Eddie Shore, the Cook brothers, Les Patrick, Ching Johnson, Aurel Joliet, and a bunch of others.

A good hockey player can earn a nice yearly salary in the three or four months the game is at its height. The top salary figure in the National League, even in this day of the depressed dollar, is $7500 a year.

In the hockey action scene at top, the Chicago goalie is shown as he dropped to the ice in a desperate effort to keep the puck from going into the net, in a hot game between the New York Rangers and the Chicago Black Hawks at New York's Madison Square Garden. Two outstanding hockey veterans are shown above: Ching Johnson, left, and Eddie Shore, right.

Jarrett Works on Plans for Summer Session at W. T.

Dean R. P. Jarrett returned Wednesday from Austin where he had represented the College at a conference called by State Superintendent L. A. Woods, and attended the representatives of the education departments of practically all of the senior colleges of the state.

The conference was called to begin a careful study of curriculum needs in the State of Texas and to make plans for special courses dealing with the curriculum, these to be given in the summer terms of 1934. Two further conferences were considered, one of State wide extent to be held in Austin in July and another to be held at Fort Worth in April in conunction with the meeting of the Texas Association of Colleges.

Plans are under way at the local college to offer a strong course in curriculum construction at the summer session which will open June 4 and continue for twelve weeks.

As Lynch Mob Stormed Jail

The enraged mob which stormed the county jail at San Jose, Calif., dragged from the building and lynched Thomas Thurmond and John Holmes, confessed kidnapers and slayers of 22-year-old Brooke Hart, is shown above surging into the jail immediately after the big steel doors had been battered down. A sheriff and 50 other officers tried to defend the prisoners, but failed. The men were hanged in St. James park, near the jail.

The nearly unclothed body of Mrs. Rheta Gardner Wynekoop, above, who had been shot through the heart, was found on an operating table in the basement office of her mother-in-law. The latter, Dr. Alice Lindsay Wynekoop, prominent woman physician, is shown at left. At right, below, is Dr. Wynekoop's son, Earl Wynekoop, husband of the slain woman.
